CAMPAIGN TO 'GET' REP. DIES ASSERTED BY ALABAMA SOLON

Forgery Of Letters Charged In Plot To Hit Probe

STATEMENT HIT Labor League Faces Questioning About Activities

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — A widespread plot to "ruin" Chairman Martin Dies, of the house Dies committee, was charged today by Rep. Joe Starnes (D) of Alabama, after the committee bared a report containing testimony that letters had been forged in an attack on Dies.

The committee planned to delve further into the alleged forgery by questioning Gardner Jackson, legislative representative of Labor's Non-Partisan League, and Harold Weisberg, a former investigator for the senate Civil Liberties Committee.

"There is no doubt but that there is a widespread plot to ruin Dies and discredit the committee," said Starnes. "I have encountered it outside of Washington and have seen evidence of its working in several cities."

The committee announced that David Mayne, one-time Washington representative of William Dudley Pelley, leader of the "Silver Shirts," had testified in secret session that he sold forged documents to Weisberg.

These documents, Mayne said, were among those used by Rep. Frank E. Hook (D) of Michigan, in an attack on Dies on the floor of the house in which he sought to link Dies with the "Christian Front" and also with Pelley.

PEA SOUP FOG CLINGS TO CITY IN MORNING

A pea soup fog, reminiscent of London at its worst, descended on Circleville during the night and by early morning reduced visibility to practically zero. The city would have been quite safe from any intended air raid if there were cause to fear one.

Automobiles made their way along the streets with headlights gleaming and store windows were well lighted so that their identity and location might be known to passing pedestrians.

Uncle Sam Working On Diesel-Powered Plane

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — Development of a new-type airplane, powered by Diesel engines, and possessing a potentially greater cruising range than any other heavier-than-aircraft, was revealed today by government engineers.

Exhaustive laboratory experiments with the new airplane are being conducted by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at its research station at Langley Field, Va.

On the basis of data assembled to date, NACA experts reported that the most advanced Diesel airplane engine would permit a cruising range 10 percent greater than that of a corresponding gasoline-powered motor.

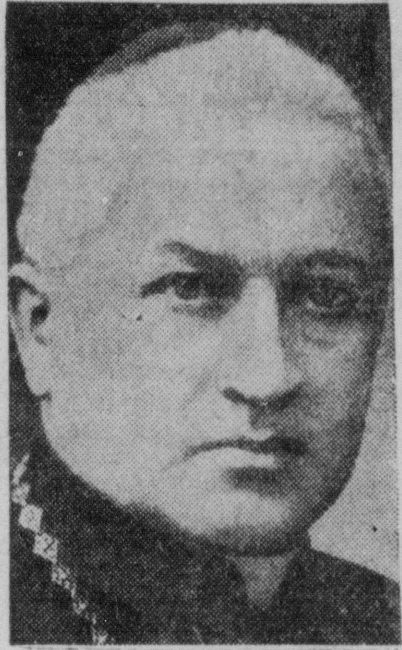

Because of their military importance, both the army and navy are collaborating in the Diesel engine experiments. Flying tests of the latest oil-powered aircraft will be conducted during the year.

In addition to the greater cruising range, the Diesel motored airplane will afford considerably more economical operation. Use of oil also will reduce fire hazard.

More Research Sought The NACA already has requested congress for increased funds with which to extend its researches into this type of engine.

"It is important that this research be continued so as to progress," (Continued on Page Four)

TWO TRAINMEN DEAD IN WRECK

Draw Bar Telescopes Six Cars Near Urbana; Other Railroaders Unhurt

URBANA, Jan. 31 — Two men were killed and another seriously injured today when a draw bar of a Pennsylvania railroad wreck train broke east of Urbana today, telescoping six cars. Six other men, riding with those killed and injured, escaped injury.

Killed were N. F. Layman, wreck master, and H. L. Morrow, a laborer. Injured was Samuel W. Whit, a laborer. All were from Columbus.

Railroad officials said the wreck train was returning to Columbus from Urbana, where the men had worked yesterday, when the accident occurred. According to officials a draw bar on the third car from the locomotive broke, causing the remaining cars to pile up.

Victims of the accident were riding on a box car, used to carry tools.

Traffic on the Pennsylvania line, a main road, was disrupted for six hours while workmen cleared away the debris. The accident occurred at 1:30 a. m.

Nazis Claim Nine British Boats Sunk

Seven Merchantmen Sent To Bottom During Air Raids To Isle District

BERLIN, Jan. 31—Nine vessels—seven armed merchantmen and two British patrol boats—were sent to the bottom of the North Sea yesterday by German bombers which for the second day in succession ranged up and down the eastern coast of England, harrying British vessels, it was announced officially today.

This brought the total number of ships sunk in two days of aerial raids to 18, according to the German figures.

The high command stated the German air force yesterday attacked 22 armed merchantmen and patrol boats, sinking nine vessels which totalled about 25,000 tons.

In addition, the announcement said, merchant vessels representing an aggregate total of about 15,000 tons were damaged. Some of these ships were listing heavily after being attacked by the German planes.

"The German air force again raided the North Sea and English coast from the Orkney Islands to the Thames Estuary," the official bulletin said.

Seven Sent to Bottom "They attacked and sank seven armed merchantmen, severely damaged two more and slightly damaged several others. They also attacked and sank two British patrol boats. One German plane is missing."

U. S. ARMY CHIEF ASKS STRENGTH TO GUARD NATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, informed the house military affairs committee that he seeks $500,000,000 to complete modernization of an army of 480,000 men capable of halting an invasion of the United States, members said today.

The chief of staff, who discussed army problems behind closed doors, said that part of the equipment needed to make a first class small army already has been appropriated for and is on order, members explained.

The proposed expenditures, they said, are: $40,000,000 for a "warning service," understood to include installation designed to warn of air raids and other enemy approaches. $240,000,000 for "critical items of material" understood to include guns, ammunition and similar implements of war.

$300,000,000 for construction and completion of coast defenses.

TWINS BUT NOT QUINS, EGYPTIAN PAPA ADMITS

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 31—"Five!" said Sayed Hamade Geheza, a superstitious Egyptian clerk after his wife gave birth to twins.

He uttered the figure because he believed it would ward off the "evil eye." But crowds converged on his home, believing quintuplets had been born.

Somewhat nonplussed, Geheza admitted today that his latest offspring were twins—not quins.

OHIO RIVER ICE THAWING

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31—With moderate temperatures prevailing, the ice locked Ohio River continued to thaw out today. Barring unexpected rains, navigation may be resumed by next week, according to veteran rivermen who said the ice was the most severe in 22 years.

SUPER-ROAD TO LINK MAJOR CITIES SOUGHT BY EASTERN FINANCIER

CHICAGO, Jan. 31—A billion dollar system of public-sponsored, privately-constructed super-highways which would connect some of the nation's most populous centers was proposed today by Walter A. Jones, Pittsburgh financier and chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

In an address before the annual meeting of the American Road Builders Association in Chicago, Jones said that it was perfectly feasible to construct an express highway which would permit motorists to travel safely from Chicago to New York in 14½ hours—one and a half hours less than the time taken by crack passenger trains.

Jones suggested the immediate construction of 1800 miles of super-highways without a single red light or cross-road to connect Richmond and Boston at an estimated cost of $310,000,000; Harrisburg and Philadelphia, $50,000,000; Pittsburgh and St. Louis, $250,000,000; Ohio River to Chicago, linking the Philadelphia-St. Louis route to Chicago, $188,000,000; and Indianapolis to Chicago, $62,000,000.

NAVAL AFFAIRS BOARD SLASHES FUNDS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—The house naval affairs committee, rejecting navy recommendations, today tentatively approved a $655,000,000 two year naval expansion bill. The navy sought a $1,300,000,000 six year expansion program.

Chairman Vinson (D) Georgia of the committee declared that the committee was not trying to retard the navy's expansion program—but was simply limiting authorizations to ships that can be built in the next two years.

POPE DELIVERS ANOTHER PLEA FOR WORLD PEACE

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 31—Pope Pius XII delivered a new peace appeal today in a speech before 5,000 persons to whom the pontiff granted a general audience.

Referring to Europe's belligerent nations, the Holy Father urged that "men whose souls were saved by Christ remember their duties of love and universal brotherhood and return to the gospel of tranquility and order, satisfying the infinite desire of the world for peace."

With tears in his eyes the pope blessed two refugees from Prague, a mother and child.

Charles Sawyer Reaffirms Stand F. D. R. Is Friend Of Labor

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31—The United Mine Workers biennial convention today sustained CIO Leader John L. Lewis in his refusal to indorse President Roosevelt for a third term.

At the end of an hour and a half of bitter debate, the miners' convention, by a viva voce vote, approved the Lewis-sponsored resolution proposing that the UMW refrain from endorsing any presidential possibility at this time. That matter was left for the international executive board to determine "as developments warrant."

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31—As a substitute for 47 resolutions indorsing President Roosevelt for a third term, a resolution declaring that the only "sensible, sane and proper course" is to refer the entire subject of 1940 presidential support to the international executive board, reached the floor of the United Mine Workers convention today.

The substitute resolution failed to mention Mr. Roosevelt. It proposed, besides empowering the board to act on presidential indorsements, that the board also determine at the proper time whether to give financial support to the candidate ultimately approved.

The resolution followed the recommendation of CIO Leader John L. Lewis, expressed at the opening convention session last week.

INDIANA JURORS INDICT MANY IN INQUIRY OF WPA

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 31 — A federal grand jury called to investigate alleged WPA irregularities in Indiana today returned two indictments naming Arthur V. Brown, prominent Indianapolis banker, and four others as defendants.

The indictments charge conspiracy to defraud the government through diversion of WPA labor and money.

Others named in the true bills were:

Karl F. Kortepeter, former Marion County co-ordinator for the work-relief agency.

Miss Elizabeth Claypool, member of a prominent Indianapolis family.

Arthur F. Eickhoff, of Indianapolis, president of the Eickhoff Realty Company and an employee in one of Brown's banks.

Charles E. Jefferson, former member of the Marion County flood control board and an agent of the Eickhoff firm.

FINNS, FIGHTING FOR LIVES, CONTRACT FOR WORLD'S FAIR SPACE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—Brave little Finland which established a few military "firsts" by holding off the Russian bear established another today by becoming the first nation from abroad to sign up for participation in the World's Fair this year.

The contract was signed on December 19, a day on which the Russians dropped bombs on Helsinki, but it was deemed advisable to postpone the announcement because it was felt the contract might be misconstrued in some parts as too frivolous an act by a besieged country.

The Russian building at the fair is now almost completely demolished.

Nation's Events Honoring President to Put Huge Amount in Health Fund

Dances And March Of Dimes Expected To Add Two Millions; F. D. Hopes Program May Be Extended

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — It was the morning after President Roosevelt's 58th birthday anniversary and hundreds of thousands who had danced throughout the night in every section of the nation went wearily to work today—that tired feeling relieved only by the knowledge their dancing might help others, stricken with infantile paralysis, to walk.

At the White House, scores of clerks and stenographers spent all of their spare time helping the overburdened mail room staff in opening and cataloguing the millions of dimes that were still pouring in from coast to coast.

Keith Morgan, general chairman of the Birthday Ball celebrations, and District of Columbia Commissioner George E. Allen, heading up this year's "March of Dimes" drive, were confident that 1940's contribution to the relief and prevention of infantile paralysis would approach $2,000,000—a figure well in advance of last year's total.

May Extend Field Profoundly moved by the non-partisan, nationwide response to his most cherished cause, President Roosevelt suggested that in years to come, funds thus collected might be extended beyond the field of infantile paralysis "to the care of all crippled children, no matter what the cause of their crippling."

SOUTHERN FARM AREAS SUFFER IN FRIGID WAVE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — The abnormally low temperatures—lowest in many years—throughout southern winter-farming sections of the country caused exceedingly heavy damage estimated at millions of dollars, the U. S. weather bureau reported today.

The state of Florida has been the hardest hit by the freezing temperatures, with the bureau estimating a total truck farming loss of more than $25,000,000. With the weather at the lowest point in the last 25 years in the state, truck crops were about to totally destroyed in all sections.

Unharvested oranges, more than half the total crop, tangerines and grapefruit are nearly a total loss, and while forced harvest salvaged hundreds of cars of choice fruit, losses will run into millions, the bureau said.

Truck crops in the coastal areas of Alabama, Texas and Louisiana, are nearly a total loss. Louisiana experienced the longest period of severely cold weather on record for the state. Exposed truck crops in Mississippi were also heavily damaged.

RUSSIAN DEFEAT MAY BE WAR'S MOST DECISIVE

REPORTS TO CITY DIFFER

Observers Say That Soviet Manpower Beginning To Show In Warfare

HELSINKI, Jan. 31—Carrying out a new encircling maneuver, fiercely fighting Finnish troops on the central sector of the eastern frontier between Rasti and Kuhmo appeared today to have trapped thousands of Russians in what may prove another smashing triumph over the Reds.

The Rasti-Kuhmo area, according to the Finnish general headquarters, promises to become the most important battle zone of the war.

At one point, it was claimed, the Finns already have inflicted 300 casualties on the foe, at the same time capturing quantities of war materials.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A dispatch to the London Daily Express from Geoffrey Cox, who is with the southern Finnish armies, added that Russians just north of Lake Ladoga, who have been trying to out-flank the Mannerheim Line, are now beginning to retreat in what may be the most serious Russian defeat since a whole Soviet division was wiped out at Suomussalmi.)

The Finnish activities near Kuhmo appeared designed to force diversion of Russian troops from the Lake Ladoga region.

Reports Differ

Latest reports to Helsinki indicated that the situation to the north of Lake Ladoga, scene of bitter fighting for more than a week, remains unchanged and that the Russians there are still attacking, contrary to other reports that they are in retreat.

Finnish authorities expressed confidence, however, in the outcome of the fighting on this sector. But observers expressed belief that as fighting spreads to more fronts, Finland's lack of sufficient man-power to meet the Russian avalanche becomes daily more obvious.

On the Rasti-Kuhmo front, however, the Finns apparently were definitely gaining the upper hand over Russian legions which have taken up positions and dug themselves in on that front since December 10.

The Finnish encircling operations are now in full swing—after weeks of reconnaissance and patrol activity—and the Finns believe they are on the eve of a new major triumph.

More Planes Downed Meanwhile, on the Carelian Isthmus, two more Russian planes were shot down by the Finns, and defending artillery batteries scored direct hits on two marching Russian columns and five Soviet field kitchens surrounded by hungry Russian soldiers.

A Russian prisoner captured on the Carelian Front was quoted as informing his captors that the Russians end the lives of their most severely wounded soldiers rather than give them hospital treatment.

Two women, Mrs. Don Morris and Mrs. Lloyd Fisher, Circleville, were arrested here Tuesday by Marshal Bob Walden and his deputy, Cecil Scott and taken before Mayor Fred Hines for hearing. They were charged with being pickup agents in the number writing game of chance.

Mrs. Morris pleaded guilty to the charge, was fined $60 and costs of $3.30 and released.

Mrs. Fisher pleaded not guilty as charged and gave bond for her appearance in the mayor's court this Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Other alleged number writers are to be called before His Honor for some friendly and fatherly advice. For this meeting the school auditorium has been suggested as about the right accommodating size.

Mr. Sark told us that San Marcos is near two hundred miles from the Mexican border.

JUDGE TURNS DOWN MOVE FOR NEW HUFFER TRIAL

Judge Meeker Terwilliger, Tuesday, overruled a motion of Mrs. Margaret Huffer, North Pickaway Street, for a new trial in her damage action against Clyde White, her brother-in-law, whom she charges recklessly drove an automobile in which she was riding, causing her a severe injury. Mrs. Huffer's suit was lost recently when Judge Terwilliger took it from the jury and ordered a verdict for the defendant. The court's entry overruling the new trial motion instructed the defendant, Mr. White, to recover costs in the case.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Ernst Lubitsch brings his favorite of all stories to the screen in "The Shop Around the Corner," starring Margaret Sullivan and James Stewart and opening Wednesday at the Cliftona Theatre for an engagement of two days.

Because he was set on having Miss Sullivan and Stewart for the leading roles in his romantic comedy-drama, and they were not available when he signed to produce and direct for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Lubitsch first directed Greta Garbo in the hilarious satirical comedy, "Ninotchka."

Then he turned his attention to "The Shop Around the Corner," which he personally purchased, a delightfully human narrative woven around the lives of a Budapest leather goods and novelty shop owner and his clerks, their everyday problems and how they solve them.

GREATEST FIGHT OF WAR CENTERS ON SEA ACTION

Huge Stakes Are Involved In Efforts Of Allies To Stop Nazis

COUNTER-MOVE STARTED

Sixth Of Germany's Fleet Tied Up In Neutral Ports Of World

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Britain, France and Germany are today locked in a deathgrip struggle in an attempt to blockade each other out of economic existence.

Blockade, which represents the slow starving out of its enemy by the successful belligerent, is now in full force. Britain and France are seizing all German exports and contraband imports, while Germany, through submarine warfare, indiscriminate mine sowing and pressure on the neutrals, is attempting to force a Continental blockade on Britain and France.

Both are striving toward the same end but with different methods.

Britain and France, with the aid of a combined Navy which is now the most powerful in the world, have instituted a system of control which almost completely cuts Germany off from overseas trade, except towards the northeast.

Ever since the inception of war Germany's merchant shipping has been swept off the high seas and is now mostly confined to the Baltic. Over one sixth of this fleet is tied up in neutral ports unable to venture out to sea for fear of capture.

Neutral Ships Examined

By the Allied system of contraband control, which virtually blockades Europe, every neutral ship must undergo strict examination by the British and French as to the origin of ultimate destination of its cargo before it may proceed on its journey from one port to another. A few ships may manage to evade the blockade or disguise the ultimate destination of their cargoes but these successes are small.

Only the complete break-up of the Allied system of control can enable German shipping, once more, to take up regular trade with overseas nations, it claimed.

By seizing all German exports, Britain and France are cutting off Germany's greatest aid toward obtaining foreign currency for the purchase of essential war materials. They are also preventing important imports such as oil, gasoline and cotton.

The new British Order in Council, authorizing the seizure of all German exports in retaliation for Germany's indiscriminate sowing of mines around Britain, will mean the loss to Germany of about 45 percent of her prewar exports, according to British claims. This would amount to about $450,000,000 of foreign exchange by the last German exports figures.

Reich Trade Strangled

Britain claims that it will be a matter of months for Germany's overseas export trade to be completely swept off the map. Germany will then be able to trade only with Russia, the Scandinavian, Baltic and Balkan countries. This trade, it is claimed, will have to be largely on the barter system owing to Germany's lack of foreign currency.

Meanwhile Germany is straining every nerve and resource to organize a counter-blockade in the shape of a Continental system whereby Germany could direct and monopolize her neighbor's trade from the Baltic to the Mediterranean. She is also attempting to cut off Britain from her trade with the British Empire and the western Hemisphere.

The Reich is using three methods.

- 1. Submarine warfare.
- 2. Indiscriminate mine warfare.
- 3. Intensive pressure on neutrals to trade solely with Germany.

Reich Held Unsuccessful

In the first, Britain flatly claims that Germany has been unsuccessful so far. Britain claims to be sinking at least two U-boats a week and to have definitely mastered the first wave of submarines. But an intensified submarine campaign similar to that started in 1917 may possibly affect the Allies if Germany can build hundreds more submarines and equip them with highly skilled personnel.

Germany's indiscriminate mine sowing in the North Sea has had a considerable effect on British neutral shipping within the past few weeks. Magnetic mines caused great havoc amongst shipping around England towards the end of 1939 but Britain claims to have mastered the magnetic mine menace.

In the past three months of war 21,000,000 tons of British shipping have carried on normal trade, aided by the convoy system with a loss of only four percent of total tonnage, according to British figures.

Neutral Shipping Hit

At the same time Britain charges that the real purpose of the mine sowing is to prevent neutral shipping from trading with Britain. Hundreds of merchant trawlers

"Neutral countries in Europe must trade with Germany and with Germany alone," the Reich has declared. Germany is attempting ironclad trade link-ups with Russia and the neutral countries.

Trade negotiations are continuously proceeding with these countries, but Germany is stated to be hampered by the lack of foreign currency and the use of "blocked" marks.

Meanwhile the ensuing struggle between the Allies and Germany is being closely watched by the surrounding neutral countries who fear they might be drawn into the war by attempting on both sides to carry out ruthless blockade of their enemy.

UMW TO PASS POLICY POWER TO EXECUTIVES

Substitute Filed To Take Place Of Indorsements For Roosevelt

(Continued from Page One) ingly vigorous attacks on New Deal policies, agencies and leaders was interpreted by observers today as indicating that delegates to the convention have sided definitely with the Roosevelt administration.

Many Hit Without Debate

Action in yesterday's convention session was pointed to as bearing out that contention. Speedily and with little or no debate, delegates approved and applauded resolutions attacking the following:

Vice President John Nance Garner, the Federal Wage-Hour Administration, the Federal Social Security act, congress, "reactionary" leaders of the Democratic party, the National Labor Relations Act, and Rep. Howard Smith (D) of Virginia, chairman of the house committee investigating the National Labor Relations Board.

Sidetracked for several days, the substitute proposal that would empower the UMW international executive board to deal with the 1940 presidential campaign was said presented by P. T. Fagan, Pittsburgh, chairman of the resolutions committee.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—"As a Democrat and a friend of labor," Charles Sawyer, Democratic national committeeman for Ohio and candidate for governor in 1938, today took issue with John L. Lewis for the latter's repudiation of President Roosevelt at the convention of the United Mine Workers in Columbus.

To Stand with F. D.

"As a Democrat and a friend of labor," Sawyer declared, "I am quite willing to stand with President Roosevelt. I disagree with Mr. John L. Lewis. In my opinion, Franklin Roosevelt is the best friend American labor ever had, and this includes unorganized as well as organized labor. For the laboring man to turn his back on Roosevelt exhibit bad judgement as well as ingratitude.

"And the same thing goes for the Democratic party," he continued. "Any Democrat who thinks his party can succeed by repudiating or ignoring President Roosevelt should have his head examined. Today in the eyes of the world the President embodies the Democratic ideal. For Democrats to waver in their loyalty to him would be the height of folly.

"No matter what they say for publication, the Republicans hope he will not be the Democratic nominee, and 99 out of a 100 Democrats hope that he will."

The project is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

(Continued from Page One) vide as soon as possible a high output aircraft engine which will be safer because of reduced fire-risk and having a low fuel consumption which will enable longer range flights than is at present possible with the conventional type gasoline aircraft engine," the NACA said.

Until recently, development of Diesel aircraft engines in the United States lagged considerably behind that of Germany, where some airplanes with oil burning motors already are being flown. NACA engineers reported that the weight of Diesel and gasoline aircraft engines are about the same. Use of a Diesel motor has no effect on the maneuverability of the airplane.

The NACA will go before the budget bureau early in February with the request for an appropriation of $10,000,000 for construction of a new airplane engine research laboratory. This station would be constructed somewhere in the Midwest.

DIES

(Continued from Page One) by Pelley — now being sought by the committee — intimating that he had been assured that Dies would "lay off" him and his cohorts.

Mayne testified, the committee said, that he sold these forged letters to Weisberg for $100 and the promise that Jackson would get him a job in the Department of Agriculture.

The committee said that Mayne identified Weisberg as a former employee of the Senate Civil Liberties Committee, who was dismissed for giving advance information to the Communist Daily Worker. Mayne testified that he was told Weisberg "works under Jackson."

The committee said: "According to Mayne's testimony, he was approached about two months ago by Harold Weisberg who told him that a certain group opposed to the Dies committee's continuation and headed by himself and Gardner Jackson, of Labor's Non-Partisan League, wanted to obtain information which would show directly or circumstantially, that there was collusion between Chairman Dies on the one hand and William Dudley Pelley and other so-called Fascist groups on the other hand.

"In return for such information, Mayne alleged that Weisberg offered to pay him the sum of $100 as a retainer and in addition to obtain him a position in the Department of Agriculture through the influence of Gardner Jackson and his contacts with the government.

$100 Retainer Paid

"Following Weisberg's offer, Mayne testified that he manufactured the bogus letters and turned them over to Weisberg who thereupon completed the payment of the $100 retainer."

The committee announced that it had affidavits "showing that certain parties in New York City had offered large sums of money for the purpose of obtaining documentary evidence showing a connection or collusion between Chairman Dies and the Christian Front."

WEST UNION, O., Jan. 31.—Possibility that a fire which resulted in the death of a man and his wife may have been started to cover up a robbery was investigated today by authorities.

The victims were Craven Grooms, 33, and his wife, Gwendolyn, 38. Their bodies were found in the charred remains of their log cabin. Grooms was a sawmill operator.

Coroner E. T. Gibboney said relatives told him that Grooms had $300 in bills and $20 in change with him the night of the fire. Only a little change was recovered. Gibboney said he also was told that Grooms recently had been forced to use a shotgun to drive away intruders.

Cleveland Believes That It Is Entitled To Solon, But Others May Contest

JAMES LINTON HINTED

Paul Herbert Eyes Office, But Is Expected To Ask Reelection

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31—Despite Cuyahoga County Republicans' contention that they are entitled to the nominee for U. S. senator, it appeared more certain than ever today that their position soon is to be challenged by other sections of the state.

At present, Cuyahoga has the only avowed candidate — Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland. But early next month, unless political weathermen are defying the breeze, Congressman Dudley White, of Norwalk, will toss his hat into the ring, to be followed before long by a Franklin County aspirant.

In the behind-the-scenes bickering, Republicans in Ohio's most populous county, Cuyahoga, are asserting that the senatorial nominee should come from their midst because of present under-representation.

The state's republican U. S. senator — Robert A. Taft — hails from Cincinnati, they cite as proof enough that the other senator should not come from Hamilton County. And Franklin County, they continue, has the governor and lieutenant governor — John W. Bricker and Paul M. Herbert, so why should it ask more?

Others Involved That does not take into consideration the populous northwest and eastern sections, both of which pay a lot of taxes to run the state government, but up to now those important regions have not rushed forward with senatorial aspirants. Franklin County has — with two.

They are Attorney James N. Linton, former county chairman and for years a non-salaried servant of the Republican party, and Paul M. Herbert, lieutenant governor and an energetic party leader.

Of the two, Linton seems the most probable starter. He has the support of the county committee and reportedly is under strong pressure to become a candidate. Herbert has been eyeing the senate picture but is expected to seek re-nomination instead.

Linton is widely known to Republican leaders throughout the state, and his friends say he could be depended upon to carry southern and central Ohio if Congressmen Tom Jenkins, of Ironton, remains out of the contest. For years Linton has been a familiar figure at GOP gatherings, presiding at state conventions and bearing whatever campaign burdens fell his way, but he has never sought an elective office.

Others from Cleveland

Paving the way for his possible entrance into the senatorial race, Linton's boosters already are attempting to refute the Cuyahoga County cry of inadequate representation by citing that Cuyahoga Republicans have the attorney general — Thomas J. Herbert; a supreme court judge — Arthur H. Day; both congressmen-at-large — George Bender and L. L. Marshall; and are likely to send two delegates-at-large to the GOP national convention.

Linton's supporters have not abandoned hope that Bender will declare himself in the contest and thereby divide the vote of the largest county with Burton. In that event, they say, Linton would surely enter, but capital observers appraised the talk of Bender becoming a candidate as "wishful thinking" on the part of those who hope to see Cuyahoga County divided.

The prospective candidates may be expected to mark time, sparring for position, until after Congressman White's anticipated declaration in Norwalk on February 6.

Crime Shows Increase, Youths Chief Offenders, J. Edgar Hoover Warns

Illegal Activities Cost United States Fifteen Billions Yearly — $10 Per Month Per Citizen

More than 19 per cent of all persons arrested in the United States last year were under voting age.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31 — The most serious phase of America's crime problem cannot be laid at the feet of the old and hardened criminal, but at the feet of America's young men and women under voting age.

Statistics being continuously compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation show that during the first eight months of 1939 more persons 19 years of age have been arrested than any other age group.

And this group is second only by boys and girls 18 years old.

"National Disgrace" In fact, so serious has the youth problem in crime become in this country that J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men, recently labeled it "a national disgrace."

"It is not pleasant to walk through any penal institution or jail in America and look into endless rows of youthful faces," he points out.

"We cannot dodge the issue or argue that these facts result from youthful folly. America can no longer refuse to face the causes behind this rising tide of juvenile crime."

More than 19 percent of all persons arrested last year were under voting age, the G-men reported. These individuals, it was added, were taken into custody for "serious offenses" against society. For example, this youthful group of criminals in 1939 constitutes 12 percent of all murderers arrested; 29 percent of all robbers; 46 percent of all burglars; 35 percent of all thieves, and 54 percent of all automobile thieves.

These figures in themselves reveal the urgent problem facing America today, Hoover declares. He adds:

"I have been condemned for insisting upon bringing to light many phases of youthful crime and because I have dared to speak the truth: that crime rests at the doorsteps of the American home. 'Some individuals believe we should keep all this behind a curtain, but I insist that no concealed evil can be remedied.

Need Realistic Approach "The way to cure a plague is by quarantine, by ferreting out the carriers of diseases and either eradicating them, or placing them where they cannot infect the populace. The same realistic approach to crime prevention must be made."

Crime in the United States is definitely on the increase, and as the figures show, the age group of most responsibility for these crimes is decreasing from year to year. In 1938 persons of 20 years of age were responsible for most of the serious crimes committed.

More than half a million persons were arrested in 1938 in connection with this country's esti-

Second Fire Breaks Out On New Aircraft Carrier In Quincy Yards

QUINCY, Mass., Jan. 31—Discovery of the second fire within a month aboard the $30,000,000 aircraft carrier Wasp now being completed at the Fore River yards has started a probe of possible sabotage, it was learned today.

The fire of mysterious origin, started in a pile of paint-covered rags in the unoccupied crew quarters of the vessel. The Wasp, scheduled to go on a trial run on February 18 or 19, successfully went through its shakedown cruise several weeks ago.

It was learned that several small fires have broken out on the 14,700 ton carrier since it was built, the last one within a month.

Most serious damage resulting from the latest blaze was that to an important power cable. The fire was on the second deck below the plane landing surface and damage was unofficially estimated at $5000. It was discovered by an electrician and the alarm was spread. Members of the maintenance crew and the ship yard's fire forces quickly extinguished the blaze.

The trial run of the ship will not be delayed as a result of the fire, it was learned.

At least 200 men were working on the ship when the fire started. Naval intelligence men and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were immediately called in to investigate the fire.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,
"PROGRAM FOR DYNAMIC AMERICA"
WASHINGTON—It's supposed to be a closely guarded secret, but the long awaited report of the Republican Platform Committee, headed by Dr. Glenn Frank, has been completed. It is now being circulated privately among party leaders, and will be submitted to the GOP National Committee when it meets in Washington in mid-February.
Entitled "A Program for a Dynamic America" the document is 30,000 words long, and falls into two general parts. First, there is a scorching dissertation on the Administration under three chapter headings: "European War and American Policy", "After Seven Years of New Deal Control", and "The New Deal Misunderstands America."
Second, there is a long outline of the "Republican position" in six chapters: "Towards a Foreign Relations Program", "Towards a Labor Program", "Towards a Farm Program", "Towards a Business Program", "Towards a Fiscal Program", and "Towards a Social Program".

FIVE POINTS
Aside from the views expressed on the major political issues, five points stand out in the report:

1. Dr. Frank's committee claims that the Hoover Administration had the country definitely on the road to recovery when the New Deal took office and disrupted this progress through unworkable policies.
2. It is claimed that the Hoover Administration was the first in the history of the country to introduce direct federal relief for the unemployed.
3. The term "New Deal" is used throughout instead of "Democratic Party."
4. There is an unspoken but definitely implied approval of Roosevelt's fundamental farm program.
5. The program makes a sketchy straddle on the hot issue of reciprocal trade treaties.

The first two contentions, that Hoover had the U. S. A. on the road to recovery, and that he was the first to start "relief", are highly significant. They constitute a signal victory for the Hoover forces over forces within the committee which wanted to keep all reference to the ex-President out of the report. The third point also is a triumph for Hoover, who insists on differentiating between the New Deal and the Democratic Party.

The tacit AAA endorsement, however, is a victory for the farm belt leaders, who consider it dangerous to arouse farmer fears that there will be any Republican tampering with New Deal benefit payments. On the other hand, the trade treaty straddle—which states "the tariff problem should be handled in such a manner as to best protect the living standards of the country"—is a score for the industrial

WORLD AT A GLANCE ..... Charles P. Stewart

SENATOR WILLIAM E. BORAH (The Lion of Idaho) being gone, Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith of South Carolina now is the upper congressional chamber's oldest member, in point of service—not in age; in the latter respect several other senators are his seniors, running up to Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, at considerably past 80. Cotton Ed is a comparative youngster of 76. But he's served in the senate since 1909—only two years less than Borah.
Senator Borah's legislative interests always were quite different from Senator Smith's. For one thing, Borah was a Republican—a very irregular one, but he stuck persistently to the G.O.P. label. Smith never has been anything but a dyed-in-the-wool southern Democrat—though I wouldn't say he'd been an enthusiastic New Dealer. And foreign affairs were Borah's special complex. That is to say, his whole idea was to keep Uncle Sam out of foreign complications.

OPPOSED LEAGUE
It will be recalled that he was one of the principal opponents of President Wilson's plan to get the United States into the league of nations. He was chairman of the senate's foreign affairs committee while his party was in a senate majority, and since the chamber's majority has been Democratic, he'd remained as the committee's senior G.O.P. member—and pretty influential.

Smith's preoccupation has been mainly with southern farming—"Cotton Ed." He's chairman of the senate agriculture committee. I don't mean to imply that he's been neglectful of northern soil culture, either—but essentially he's a Dixie-lander.
Regardless of party, seniority counts somewhat in the senate. So maybe it will have a bit of weight in the immediate future. Probably "Cotton Ed" hasn't the national significance that the "Idaho Lion" had, but he's a ponderable factor. He's a capable orator, too. And it's to be remembered that he's on the majority side, which Borah hadn't been, recently.

FOREIGN RELATIONS
However, foreign relations are our outstanding problem today. Senator Key Pittman is the upper house's chairman on that subject, and Pittman, of course, is a Roosevelt administrationist. Borah wasn't. F. D.'s an isolationist, to be sure, but not with the energy that Borah was.
Now Borah, as senior Republican (minority member of the senate's foreign relations committee, is succeeded by Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California as senior Republican member of the committee.
Hiram and Borah were side-kicks in the fight against American participation in the League of Nations. Others helped them, but they were the two original veterans. Johnson is the last-man senatorial survivor.

AGAINST THE WAR
Quite a few senators voted against going into the war of 1914.
Senators Robert M. La Follette (the elder), Borah, Johnson and others did so. So did Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska. He says he's through—at his age. He'll retire at his present term's end. He was against the last war—but at present? This thing involves Finland.
Plenty of original American pacifists are pro-Finns.
Senator Johnson, as ranking minority member of the foreign relations group, will be an even more formidable character in the upper legislative chamber than he has been hitherto, and he has classed as a heavyweight for a long time. Though on the minority side, he counts substantially. As an isolationist, he's the limit. For instance, he objects to the kind of neutrality the Rooseveltians believe in and today have on Uncle Sam's statute book. The Californian thinks it allows the president too much latitude. What he favors is the air-tight article.
Borah's death leaves a Republican vacancy on the senate's foreign relations committee. Predictions are that Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota will get the place. He's as much of an isolationist as Borah was and as Johnson is.

YESTERDAY: On board the Hayworth yacht Pee Wee Tyler, a spot of socialite, shows her jealousy of Cholly.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
PEE WEE TYLER could stand almost anything but ridicule. If she hadn't seen from the laughter of her friends that Cholly O'Neil had put her in the position of defending herself, she might have gone on persisting in annoying her.
But with as much grandeur as she could muster, she picked up another glass of champagne and walked away with an air of being too much put out by being forced to mingle with the hoi polloi to bother further.

Sensing that the crowd liked Cholly because she had been truthful and shown her inborn Irish pride, Brent suggested tactfully: "How about a little music before supper, Dove? Play for us, Cholly."

That was just the right tonic for Cholly. Romany was grateful to Brent for his thoughtfulness. Cholly, without hesitating, strode into the lounge and sat down at the piano. Only two or three couples followed. But she had only played a few bars when others, hearing the lovely melody, went in to crowd around and watch the little white hands on the keyboard.

Very angry, Cholly gave vent to her spleen on the piano. And she had never played better in her life. Just to show Pee Wee Tyler she knew good music, too, she began with the classics. Then, defiantly, she broke into jazz, knowing it would be enjoyed more by Dover's friends.

Dove watched her with eyes in which amusement and affection were mingled. Throughout the evening he stayed at her side, deliberately showing Pee Wee and the Gold Coasters where he stood on the subject of farmers' daughters.
Later, without Romany at the bar, Brent let it be known that she was the niece of Cissie Harlowe. That, of course, put her in the picture in the best possible light. Cissie had never bothered much about who was in the Blue Book, but she was known to be very wealthy. That, those in the know thought, explained why Romany Haille should have made friends with a girl who was poor and earned her bread and butter playing in a music store. She was democratic, like her beautiful aunt, and astonishingly like her in looks.

Romany received several invitations during the evening, which pleased her no end, and delighted Brent. She wondered about the sudden interest they showed in her, but presumed it was because someone had read about her being the niece of Cissie Harlowe in the radio columns. Cholly, she noticed, was not included in the invitations. The crowd moved and her amusing as ever. Hayworth's guest, who played the piano so well, but that wouldn't make them accept her in their own homes or on their own boats.

It was three o'clock in the morning.

More Than 200 Couples At President's Ball

Event Proves To Be Excellent Affair In Circleville

With more than 200 couples present, Circleville once again fittingly celebrated the President's birthday at a ball Tuesday in the auditorium of Memorial Hall. Extremely gala in its decorative dress of red, white and blue, the hall was a colorful setting for the gay affair. Gracefully draped festoons of white, strung with red, white and blue lights, together with myriads of pennants and flags in the same colors hung from the ceiling and around the balcony. Two large posters of the President being displayed advantageously in the background of the hall.

Friendly indeed was the group gathered in the hall to help with dancing feet in the campaign to stamp out infantile paralysis. Part of the proceeds of the party will go to the National Foundation, and part will remain in Circleville for local use.

All through the evening the floor was crowded with dancers, enjoying to the utmost the delightful music of Dale Stevens and his orchestra. Catering to the taste of each guest, he played both "swing" and "sweet" music between the hours of 9 and 1. The highlight of the evening for the dancing crowd was the selection of the best of the dancers in each type.

Joseph P. Noecker and his dancing partner, Mrs. Jay Clark of Circleville were awarded the prize for the smoothest performance to "sweet" music, James Mowery, Jr., Circleville, and Miss Susanne Hayes, New Holland, winning the prize for their sophisticated "swing" steps.

The door prize in the dance hall was the trophy of George Crites, South Court Street.

The floor show put on by three talented young people of the community during intermission was a pleasant feature of the ball. Miss Viola Mae Alkire in her supple acrobatic dancing presented a finished performance before the applauding audience. The saxophone solo of George Wilson was a delightful musical interlude. Miss Jane McWhirter very capably played the piano accompaniments for each performer.

James Mowery, Jr., agile in the steps of his complicated tap dance, presented a number that was gleefully received by the crowd, responding to applause with a second dance. Mr. Mowery was responsible for the floor show entertainment.

Joseph W. Adkins, Jr., general chairman, and the members of his assisting committees were busy throughout the evening looking after the amusement of the guests, many of whom were from nearby communities including, Columbus, Lancaster, Chillicothe, Kingston, Williamsport, Ashville and Commercial Point.

Refreshments served during the evening by members of the Auxiliary of Howard Hall post, American Legion, were exhausted long before the close of the affair, the guests being most generously inclined in this respect.

The many donations of cakes, chickens, eggs and butter and other things added substantially to the evening's funds when sold by the efforts of C. G. Chalfin, auctioneer.

Early in the evening players assembled in the Post room of the hall where cards were enjoyed at 17 tables. Mrs. Larry Athey and her committee were in charge of this part of the evening's plans and awarded the door prize of the room to Mrs. James I. Smith, Jr. This prize and the one for the dance hall were beautifully decorated cakes.

Prizes in the card games were won by Mrs. Adrian Yates, Mrs. Paul McGinnis, Kingston, Mrs. G. D. Phillips, Mrs. W. H. Sne-decker, A. L. Wilder, Joe Noecker, Paul Adkins, Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. George Crites, Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Mrs. George E. Gerhard and Mr. Robert Hedges in the contract bridge; Miss Molly Hill and Mrs. Frank Davis, in euchre; Mrs. Ralph Dennis, Mt. Sterling, and Ray Davis, in 500.

The effective decorations of the dance hall were arranged by the Martin Display Service.

Corduroy Goes To Town

CORDUROY is on the up-and-up. One of our smartest winter resorters wears corduroy ski pants. A corduroy coat designed in Paris for cruise and spring wear inspired the model shown today, one of those wraps which looks as well over light as dark clothes, comfortable for travel and useful all summer long. It's a wide-waisted weave in ivory, distinguished for its double-lapels, slim sleeves and large buttons. Note the crisp sailor with its indented crown, a hat to go with mid-season ensembles as well as lightweight suits. Incidentally, the lining of the coat is antiseptically-treated.

village chapter, nine from Heber, 14 from Kingston, two from Evergreen and eight from Purity.

A beautiful and impressive memorial service was presented under the direction of Mrs. Elton Elliott, assisted by the officers of Forest Chapter, Bloomingburg.

The election of the district officers resulted in Mrs. Emma Kelley, Washington C. H., being chosen president; Mrs. Mabel Dick, New Holland, vice president; C. E. Hill, Williamsport, secretary-treasurer.

The afternoon session was brought to a close immediately after the address by the worthy grand matron which was an inspiring message and very well received by those attending.

In the evening, a school of instruction was presented to the more than 150 members who were in attendance. A pleasant surprise came to all when the worthy grand matron conferred the honor of grand representative of Kansas on Mrs. Hazel Hohenstein of Kingston.

The instructive and interesting discourse of the worthy grand matron throughout the entire school of instruction was listened to attentively at all times and those present were well repaid for being there.

Among those present from Circleville were Miss Hamilton, Miss Bertha Valentine, Mrs. George Valentine, Mrs. F. K. Blair, Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mrs. Myron T. Johnson, Mrs. C. D. Bennett, Mrs. Robert Denman, Mr. and Mrs.

members at dinner Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Orr, of South Court Street. Additional guests at the traditional president's dinner were Roy Black and Virgil M. Cress of the high school faculty, club advisors, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Cress.

After the delightful chicken dinner and its accompanying viands were served, the club busied itself with the discussion of the forthcoming Stooze Dinner for the benefit of the band uniform fund. Led by the president, plans were completed for the affair which will be Thursday, February 8, in the social room of the high school building.

It was decided to serve a Virginia baked ham dinner with all the trimmings. The club will be assisted in preparing the dinner by mothers of members.

Mr. Mrs. Fitzpatrick Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzpatrick of Elm Avenue entertained the members of their euchre club Tuesday at a cooperative dinner.

Today's Fashion

THE WHISPER of taffeta rustles through the spring sartorial symphony. Some of the nicest and most important dresses for late winter and early spring wear are of this attractive fabric. This one-piece model is mauve-colored with black dots. The bodice is seamed on past the waist, forming a hip yoke below a black suede belt. A tiny white silk collar has a binding of the print. The piece forming the shallow yoke continues down the outer sleeve. Skirt is circular with center seam front and back.

Pimiento Stuffed Olives

Heart-shaped Cakes with Pink Icing

Strawberry Ice Cream Coffee

LET'S HAVE A PARTY! February is a grand month in which to entertain, as it contains Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays. If you wish to be patriotic, and St. Valentine's Day, if you wish to be romantic. I have chosen the latter for our party, although the same menu could be used, with different and appropriate decorations, for either of the other days.

Strawberry Ice Cream—Ingredients: one pint frozen berries, one-half cup sugar, one pint whipping cream, or cream that will whip. Put sugar over berries, stir and allow to stand one hour after they have been thawed. Put bowl and beater into cold place to chill. Put berries through sieve, whip cream, fold in berries and stir until thoroughly mixed, then freeze. Any fresh or canned fruit may be used. If you use canned fruit, drain it from the juice. This recipe makes eight small or six large dishes.

Chicken a la King—Ingredients: two cups diced chicken, four tablespoons butter, four tablespoons chopped green pepper, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, two cups milk, two tablespoons chopped pimiento, one-half cup canned mushrooms. Melt butter, add green pepper and cook until pepper is soft, then add flour mixed with salt. Stir until blended, add milk; stir until smooth, add chicken, pimientos and mushrooms cut in pieces. Serve on heart-shaped pieces of toast or hot baking-powder biscuits. This will serve six.

Cakes—Ingredients: one cup sugar, one-half cup butter, three eggs, whites separated from yolks, one-half cup milk, two teaspoons lemon flavoring, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar, cream roughly, then add beaten yolks of eggs, next flavoring and part of milk, then part of flour which has been sifted with baking powder. After milk and flour have been added alternately until all are used, fold in stifflybeaten whites of eggs. Bake in heart-shaped individual tins and frost with butter icing which has been colored with canned raspberry or strawberry juice or vegetable coloring.

Ice Covers Ohio, But Red Fans Like Their Baseball

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31 — With the groundhog still reposing in his warm tunnel and the robins still flitting in southern climes, it might be premature to wind up on the baseball situation but you couldn't convince the folks in Cincinnati of that fact today.

Even though the Ohio River was jammed solid with ice and city streets sprinkled liberally with snow, the rabid fans in the Queen City warmed things with lively discussions of prospects for the coming season—from a purely Red angle, of course.

They were still wailing at the bar over the Reds' failure to land Benny McCoy, former Detroit second baseman who signed with Philadelphia for two years. But the fans decided that Lonnie Frey was still capable of manning the keystone sack. Besides that, the McCoy issue was subordinated in Ernie Lombardi's fate.

Ernie has been absorbing sunshine on the Pacific Coast and refusing flatly to sign the 1940 contract which he said called for a $3,000 salary cut. But he has indicated that he wasn't especially holdout; that he wanted to think things over as he did at home plate during the last World Series game against the New York Yankees one sunny Sunday in October almost four months ago.

Giles Tosses Posies
Probably there was no particular motive involved, but clever Warren Giles, general manager of the Reds, has been tossing verbal bouquets in Lombardi's direction. If Ernie will turn his face eastward from the sun country he may get the idea.

Giles is confident that salary differences will be adjusted before spring training, as they usually are. Because any ball club is in a much more secure financial position to play coy Clarabelle than is the player.

Very few persons, outside of Cincinnati fans, think the Reds can duplicate their 1939 pennant winning feat. But Redleg fans are Clarksburg's fast cage team, beaten only by Circleville and Frankfurt this year, won a 30-16 game Tuesday evening from New Holland. The loss was New Holland's first in about seven games, the team coached by Donald Rittenour fast moving into the dark house role for the county tournament.

Bob Hamman, Clarksburg forward, was his team's star with 13 points. New Holland's scoring was evenly divided.

Mike Sees Zale Thump Mr. Hostak

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—Along Broadway today we find . . . the sorest man in the world . . . Mike Jacobs . . . fuming over the "thick-headedness" of some fight managers. . . .

Mike just got back from Chicago . . . where he saw Tony Zale spoil a prospective $200,000 gate . . . between Al Hostak and Cefarino Garcia . . . by trimming the aforesaid Hostak. . . . "And what burns me up most," says Mike . . . "is that Hostak fights out there for peanut money . . . when he could have got himself at least 25 grand fighting here for me . . . now I'll probably put quite confident that come October, Crosley field will resound again with hoarse cheers or Bronx cheers. This time, Red backers are confident there will be no sleeping at the switch or plate.

Up To Johnny
Manager Bill McKeechle and Giles believe that if Johnny VanderMeer flashes his 1938 form, the Reds may land on top. And in that belief they are correct because if the youthful flinger regains the form exhibited in the year he twirled two no-run, no hit tilts, he should turn in 12 or 15 wins.

At any rate, it won't be long before the boys pack their grips and head for the balmey South, hoping that it won't take another 20 years to bring the world series to the city of brew, soap and baseball.

YOUTHFUL STAR RUNS SATURDAY AGAINST FINEST

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 — Track fans today are wondering what success young Leslie MacMitchell, New York University sophomore, will have when he makes his debut as a big-time miler at the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden against Glenn Cunningham, Gene Venzke, Chuck Fenske, Blaine Rideout and Lou Zamperini Saturday night.

MacMitchell, a Scotch-American who loves to run, was the most sensational schoolboy runner in the country two years ago. He won races at all distances and success growing up has added the I. C. 4-A. cross-country title to the Metropolitan AAU outdoor and indoor championships he already held.

He has been clocked in 4:14.2 for the mile and probably can do better than that after he gets used to top-notch competition. However, even that time will be good enough to keep him in the thick of the fight right down to the wire for Cunningham's times for this particular race — the Wanamaker Mile — have been 4:13, 4:11.2, 4:11, 4:14.4, 4:11 and 4:13.

MIAMI QUINTET MAKES SHOWING IN COURT RACE

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31 — Miami University's basketball five had revenge today and in addition was on top of the race for the mythical state cage title.

The Redskins defeated Earlham of Indiana on the latter's floor last night, 43 to 35, to push their mark up to nine wins and only one loss. The single defeat was imposed by this same Earlham team earlier in the season in an overtime period.

In Ohio Conference play, Bowling Green edged out Mt. Union, 34 to 29. Otterbein chalked up its fourth league victory at the expense of Wittenberg. The final count was 41 to 35, with Rise leading the Otterbein cagers with 16 points.

At Akron, Cincinnati walloped the rubber city lads, 48 to 31, and at Gallipolis, Rio Grande turned back an invading Cedarville five, 38 to 34. Duncan with 14 points led the Rio Grande attack and Roberts with 15 points was high scorer for the losers.

Dayton's game with Ohio University at Athens was postponed. Tonight's games: Defiance at Bluffton; Hiram at Kent.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NAMES DIRECTORS, PREPARES FOR YEAR'S WORK

'40 PROGRAM OF BUSINESS GROUP IMPORTANT ONE

Board Meets Thursday Eve
To Elect President For Organization

AUDITOR SHORT LAUDED

Committee To Be Selected
To Work With Official
In Land Tax Fight

Embarking on a departmentalized program that is believed to be the most comprehensive that a Circleville Chamber of Commerce has ever undertaken, the organization conducted its annual meeting Tuesday evening in the New American Hotel, heard an active discussion of various problems, revised two important by-laws and heard the new list of directors, chosen by a mail vote of the Chamber, announced. The new board, which includes Joe Adkins, Tom O. Gilliland, Herman Hill, Carl Hunter, I. W. Kinsey, F. A. Lynch, Dan McClain, Dr. G. D. Phillips, Ray Rowland, Dwight Steele and Clark Will, will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to organize. James I. Smith, Jr., is the retiring president.

The program recommended for the new board to consider includes many suggestions that should make the Chamber of Commerce a real power in the campaign to make Circleville a better city in which to live. The new board of directors includes several persons who have not heretofore been members of the Chamber of Commerce, but all have pledged themselves to wholeheartedly support the business organization in its drive to make the city go forward.

Two Statutes Altered
By-laws revised include the amount of annual dues increased from $12.50 to $15 and an increase in the membership of the directorate from seven to 11 members. Several other proposals were suggested, but action was put in the hands of the new board.

The organization after hearing a splendid report by Mack Parrett, Jr., on the year's activities and complimenting him for his work immediately started consideration of business matters.

One of the first problems to receive attention was the contest being waged by County Auditor Forrest Short against the government's attempt to remove more than 3,500 acres of Pickaway County farm land from the tax duplicate claiming that the Rural Resettlement project which embraces parts of seven townships is a public undertaking and therefore should not be taxed. President Smith was instructed to appoint a committee from the C. of C. to work with the tax committee of the Pickaway County Business Council in an effort to prevent removal from the duplicate. On the Business Council's tax committee are Clark Will, John Hummel and Harry Heffner. Mr. Smith said that he would let appointment of the committee up to the new president whoever he may be.

The Chamber voted also to instruct Secretary Parrett to send a letter to Auditor Short informing him that the Chamber is behind him in his efforts to prevent removal of the land from the tax lists.

The report of Secretary Parrett covered the year's activities in a thorough manner. The secretary cited the financial condition of the C. of C. and outlined accomplishments of the year.

Flood Control Talked

The Chamber voted to pay the expenses of a representative to attend a flood control meeting in Portsmouth next Tuesday during which various problems of cities in the Scioto River Valley will be discussed. President Smith cited the importance of the meeting. He said that the new president would decide on the delegate. A hearing on flood control problems is scheduled February 12 in Washington D. C., he said, but it appeared unlikely that the Chamber of Commerce would be represented.

Guests introduced during the evening included William Mead of Mansfield, former Circleville resident; Robert Scanlan of Columbus, new Boy Scout executive in charge of the Pickaway County district, and Charles J. Allamon, new manager of the West Main Street A & P store.

The meeting was conducted following dinner served at 6 o'clock.

Deputy Sealer Skis Well In Day, But At Night?..

It's true even in ski-jumping that you use your head, but land on your feet. That, they say, is the trick in sliding around on bass-wood strips.

Ned Dresbach, deputy sealer in the county auditor's office, started right, but the finish—well—

The Epworth Lutheran League had a skiing party at the farm of Calvin May in Walnut Township. Ned, who claims he can teach the Finns a few things, was one of the 35 who attended.

There's a nice hill on the farm that is known as May's Hill and it makes good skiing. But there is a bump in the middle that is used for jumps.

Ned came down the hill well enough and took the jump well enough, but after that he reversed all the laws of orthodox skiing.

He landed on his head!

A half hour after the jump Ned opened his eyes, ascertained where he was and then asked who had turned out the flashlight that marked the jump.

Back at his desk Tuesday Ned is still trying to convince everyone in the office that he can really ski.

"I'm at my best in the daytime, but when they turn the light out I'm not so good," he said.

Meanwhile we wonder.

TWO CITED FOR THEFT OF CARS EARLY IN WEEK

WASHINGTON C. H., Jan. 31—Two alleged automobile thieves are back in the hands of the law Wednesday after their latest escape of auto larceny Tuesday night. Cloyd Dunn, Madison Mills, who was out on probation from common pleas court on a charge of auto theft, is back in the county jail after having admitted participation in the robbery of a car in Columbus.

Dunn's accomplice, Robert Rice, Mt. Sterling, is being held in that town for auto larceny as well as theft of tags from Mt. Sterling. The pair was arrested after a car owned by the West Side Motor Sales Company of Columbus, was wrecked at the intersection of New Holland and Waterloo roads at 9 o'clock Tuesday night.

Picked up on the CCC highway near Mt. Sterling, by the authorities there, Rice confessed to his part in the crime and told where Dunn could be found. Sheriff W. H. Icenhaver and Deputy C. D. Yeoman went to New Holland and picked up Dunn, who denied all knowledge and accusations until he learned of Rice's arrest.

Whether Dunn will be taken before Judge Rankin for sentence on the old offense for violating his probation, or will be turned over to the Franklin County authorities for prosecution, has not been determined. Rice is still being held in Mt. Sterling.

Every life is a profession of faith, and exercises an inevitable and silent influence.—(Amiel)

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

forces which strongly favor the Administration's reciprocal trade policies.

"REPUBLICAN POSITION"

The Hoover claim that the depression had been licked until the New Deal kicked over the apple-cart reads as follows:

"The American depression struck bottom in 1932. The United States could reasonably have been expected to follow the other major nations of the world into recovery if a drastic political overturn had not then subjected American enterprise to unpredictable politics and unworkable economics."

The report also states that New Deal economies actually are not new, but are based on obsolete theories held by the "least enlightened leadership of Big Business" around 1900, who advocated drastic controls over production in order to create artificial scarcity and thereby force up prices.

RELIEF

Hoover's other sacred cow, relief, is handled by Dr. Frank in this manner: First, a statement that there is no question or argument over the Government's obligation to aid those in need. Then follows this assertion, "Prior to the Hoover Administration the Federal Government had not accepted this responsibility"—which is certain to bring on a torrent of Democratic denial of credit to Hoover.

Then the Frank committee proceeds to blast New Deal relief operations as extravagant, politics-ridden, unsound, and discriminatory "between racial groups". The report alleges that while the New Deal claims to have helped the Negro, actually the Negro has been the object of widespread discrimination.

The committee also recommends that relief be turned over to the states and localities—another pet Hoover theory—letting the Federal Government contribute with grants on a formula to be worked out by a national bi-partisan commission and submitted to Congress for final approval.

LABOR

The report hotly assails the National Labor Board, for alleged bias in administrative personnel, which is the basis of the attacks in Congress and among labor, but because it acts as administrator, judge, jury and prosecutor.

Regarding the basic AFL-CIO dispute as to whether labor shall be organized along industrial or craft lines, the report says: "The form (of organization) should take its cue from the function."

FARM AID

The report vigorously raps AAA bureaucracy but asserts that "the case for an extensive federal program for soil conservation is outside the area of partisan debate". Also, the committee holds that acreage control as a means of combating surpluses is not dependable because of unpredictable weather conditions and production improvements. However, "its continued existence should be countenanced until more fundamental policies begin to solve the problem."

Most significant political statement in the agricultural chapter is the veiled assurance on benefit payments as follows: "Until the basic policies, here suggested, begin to register their effect, the necessity of some form of direct subsidy to agriculture to secure effective parity control and the impact of surpluses upon farm prices must be recognized."

BUSINESS

The committee endorses government regulation of business, but reminds the world that business is not "anti-social", as claimed by the New Deal, and so should be given ample freedom to take risks.

"The purpose of government intervention," says the report, "should be to make the American economy of free enterprise work, not to replace it with something else. In the face of mounting evidence that the temper and purpose of New Deal leadership, in its relation to business, have repressed rather than released the creative energies of the nation's enterprise, the temptation in many quarters has been to demand a moratorium on all business reform."

The committee warns against such a stand. Business should be regulated, consumers protected, small land new business aided, but by "rational rule" and by letting business govern exactly what the Government seeks to do.

FINANCES

New Deal fiscal policies and its vast expenditures make the solution of U. S. finances extremely difficult, but as a start the GOP committee recommends:

(1) Eliminate tax exemptions on all future issues of federal, state and municipal securities, (2) reduce the higher individual surtaxes, repeal the capital stock and excess profits taxes, and increase rates in the middle brackets, (3) substantially reduce government expenditures, and (4) declare a determination to return to the gold standard, the time and conditions to be fixed by a commission working with Congress. This last is another pet Hoover plank.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Unemployment insurance and old-age pensions, the committee decries, should be on a pay-as-you-go basis with both worker and employer contributing. There is little criticism of the New Deal Social Security Act, but a recommendation that it be extended to farm labor, domestic help and other groups now excluded—which Roosevelt originally asked Congress to do.

The report also advocates government aid in promoting a "healthier America", but is very much against having the government enter the "field of actual medical care, remedial as well as preventive, for people, either individually or as groups".

The committee recommends federal grant-in-aid to local and state health units, plus a national health program by the Government, medical profession and voluntary social groups, and the promotion of voluntary non-profit health and hospital insurance organizations.

BANKER TO WIN EARLY HEARING FOR HIS PAROLE

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31—Charles E. Wheland, former Uhrichsville financier who is serving 10 to 30 years in Ohio penitentiary for embezzling $475,000, today was promised an early parole hearing because he allegedly was sentenced improperly.

That was indicated in a ruling of the Ohio pardon and parole commission, which held that the statutory penalty provided for a sentence of from "10 to 30 years."

"It is the opinion of the commission that the presiding judge . . . was without authority to impose a sentence of 10 to 30 years," the opinion, drafted by Vice Chairman E. E. Everett, contended.

Wheland was committed to prison Jan. 1, 1937 under concurrent sentences of 10 to 30 years on each of 54 charges of embezzlement and falsification. In addition, he was sentenced to five years on a charge of falsely certifying a check.
